Other Matters

Reading Assignments and Listening Assignments are to be done before the class in which the material will be covered. It is of critical importance that you have a familiarity with concepts and some of the music before it is covered in class. You will be asked to turn in on a regular basis a one or two sentence summary of important or interesting material you have heard or read in preparation for the day’s class meeting. These summaries will be recorded and considered in determining your final course grade. Assignments will be posted on the website after each class for the coming class meeting. It is your responsibility to keep current with the assigned listening and reading.

Regular Class Attendance is absolutely essential – no exceptions. Students absent from more than 3 hours of class may be in danger of failing the course unless a written excuse from the Dean's office can be provided. Your attentive presence in class is of paramount importance due to the nature of the subject and the amount of in-class listening and workshops we do. If you don’t think you can regularly attend class, do not enroll in this course.

Exams & grading

- The grading scheme for this course is currently under review with the intent of making the course assignments more student-determined.
- This course is intended and designed for students who have no musical background or experience. Although many students will have some musical background, those without such background are at no disadvantage.
